

Annandale Fullback Feared By Warriors

Wakefield High School has reason to be careful of Annandale's big fullback Bob Proctor this Saturday afternoon. According to Warrior coach Dick Johnson, "Proctor's a big boy with plenty of drive, and his opening game success isn't necessarily due to playing a weaker opponent. Proctor ought to present plenty of problems for us on Saturday, too."

Otherwise Johnson was well pleased with his latest workouts at Wakefield, and predicted that "our boys could easily turn in a pretty good game on Saturday, or they could even fold up on us. A lot will depend on our running and blocking. We aren't completely satisfied with our playing to date, but we're working on our problems."

Yesterday's drills consisted mostly of offensive workouts while today there will be concentrated defensive maneuverings out on the Warriors' practice field.

While halfback Don Gardiner is expected to get back in the lineup this Saturday, Wakefield has been set back somewhat on the other hand by the loss of linebacker Steve Hall who has missed practice all week. Joe Patalive will probably take over on the defensive alignment in Saturday's game while Phil Brumbaugh fits into the offensive picture.

The combination of Gardiner and Warren Watson on all punting assignments plus the added fixture of Bill Lady to hold the ball on try for extra point from placement, will continue status quo. Lady was one of six students who were slightly injured in a chemistry lab explosion yesterday, but is reported in good condition.

Wakefield with a record of one win and one loss for its two games played this season, would be particularly pleased to personally hand Annandale High School its first loss in football. On Saturday Annandale ran over St. Stephens which was playing its first game of 11-man football after six seasons of the six-man brand of play.

"Annandale has benefited also from a number of transfer students from both Fairfax High School and Mt. Vernon High School," Johnson pointed out, "but still the going ought to be a little smoother than some of our other games since Annandale won't have any 12th graders on its squad."

Wakefield's foe for next week, Mt. Vernon, will be playing host to Falls Church tomorrow night while future opponents, in the order of their scheduled appearances on this weekend are slated to have John Marshall at Garfield on Saturday, George Mason at Herndon on Friday, while the George Washington Junior Varsity and Washington-Lee Junior Varsity will be getting together next Thursday afternoon, October 7, at Alexandria.
